THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Oct. 5 .- The stock market today continued to show markel indifference to the difficulties as well as eign markets on account of the war scare and money difficulties as well as the continued stiffness of the local money rate. Prices dipped at the opening on the rumor of an invasion of Natal by the Boer forces and on the further advice in the Bank of England rate of discount. But the opening prices were for the most part the lowest and the market quite promi-nently set about retrieving its decline.

The liquidation of London account was of comparatively small volume, sales not exceeding 15,000 shares. In fact, the foreign stock mark-ts seemed to take no very serious account of the strained condition of affairs and even the Kaffir mining stocks, which

The market for call money in New York showed further relief from the extreme stringency, though by no means on an easy basis. Today's maximum rate was 12 per cent., and it fell before the close below the legal rate. The undertone of the market for stocks was very firm. This was not due to any large demand, even in the case of stocks which moved quite wildly, but rather to the bidding up of prices by those interested in seeing a higher figure for their hold-This bidding up process, however, failed to bring out arge offerings, which fact was significant of the market's firmness. Another was the large number of stocks not usually dealt in which were brought into ac tivity and the numerous odd lots which were recorded on the tape. The latter feature is always indicative of the presence of the bargain hunter, who is buying stocks cutright to hold as an invesment: a class of buyers who do not depend on the money market for borrowed funds. There is undoubtedly growth of confidence that the strin-

CHURCH WAR OVER LANGUAGE ISSUE

SOME WANT WELSH, OTHERS WANT ENGLISH.

The Dispute Waxes so Warm That It Is Finally Taken Before Judge Woodward for Settlement-Facts Brought Out at Hearing-Decision Reserved

Wilkes-Barre, Oct. 5.-The question of whether the minister of the Weish Methodist Episcopal church on the Heights shall preach his evening sermons in the Welsh or English language has caused a serious split in that congregation. The church was closed to the pastor, an injunction was secured and now the matter will be decided in the courts. Argument in the case was made today before Judge Woodward. Rev. H. P. Morgan is the pastor of the church, being appointed by the Methodist conference, and he decided to preach his evening sermons in the Engish language, believing that it would increase the church membership, The dissenting faction claim it is a Welsh church, for the Welsh people and the Welsh language should be used in the evening if they desire it. The break in the congregation became wider and finally the minister found the church door closed and locked against him.

An injunction was secured to compel the trustees to open the church, and the court continued it for a time,hoping that the people would settle their trouble without recourse to courts of law but no settlement could be reached, and last week testimony was taken. This morning arguments were made before Judge Woodward and Rev. Mr. Morgan testified that the majority of the congregation favored the Englishservice in the evening. A former class leader testified that the majority favored Welsh. Almost the whole congregation was present at the argument and the factions occupied either side of the court room

THE ARGUMENTS.

The plaintiff was represented by ex-Judge Rhone and the defendant trustees had as their attorneys P. A. O'Boyle and D. E. Baxter.

Ex-Judge Rhone set forth that those who opposed Rev. Mr. Morgan were insurgents who rebelled against the authority of the church. He asked the judge to decide this church a part of the great Episcopal church and that the church should be opened and given over to the services selected by the pas-

Attorney Baxter argued that the Welsh church is an independent church, that the charter makes it a Welsh church and that Rev. Mr. Morgan and his faction of the congregation are the seceders. He asked that the court do not take away their rights of conducting their services in the Welsh language for which the church was incorporated.

Baxter and asked what the first Welsh Methodist Episcopal church means, if it does not mean that the services be conducted in Welsh. He read the sec tion of the charter which said that the incorporators had the power to make rules and laws of their church, for its good government and support. He said there was no laws or discipline in the Methodist Episcopal church enforcing upon any one to use any special language, and it was unjust and arbitrary force a language upon the people they did not want, and contrary to the charter which incorporated a Welsh

NO COMPROMISE

Judge Woodward asked Mr. O'Boyle if he would be satisfied to open the church until the ecclesiastical court decidethe case, which the latter refused and said that the Welsh people would then have no Welsh church. Judge Woodward said the sensible thing would be to have the minister go back preach half in Welsh and half in English, and refer the whole matter to the ecclesiastical court.

Mr. O'Boyle said a decree could be made allowing Mr. Morgan to come back, but that he use the Welsh language. Judge Rhone said that if Mr. O'Boyle's argument was right, at the last day at the setting of the sun there would be one lone Welshman found on Sherman street, and that the Methodist Episcopal church would be paying for and sending a missionary to preach Welsh for his special benefit. Judge Woodward took the papers and dismissed all the witnesses.
